Rodeo Committees Plan Outstanding Show

Council Concerned Over Building Without Permits

The town council met in council chambers for their regular meeting on Tuesday, May 13 with councillors Woods, Wavrean, Dibble, Toppino, Ramsay, Jenkins, and Mayor N. E. Abousafy in attendance.

Committee members reported on their meeting with Mr. Harquall and Mr. Clarke of the Coleman Collieries regarding the repair and upkeep of the roads used by the coal company. They reported that the talks seemed successful and an agreement should be reached in the near future.

There were two bids received by the secretary to renovate the town hall. The council decided that for this year only the town chambers would be remodelled and that the lowest bidder would be given the contract for the work.

A letter was received from the Minister of Highways informing the council that the dust conditions on 4th street should soon be remedied as hard-surfacing of the highway was due to begin in a few days. This will be welcomed news to residents of 4th street.

An outline of a pension scheme for permanent town employees was reviewed by the council. Under the plan each person affected would pay half of the monthly premium and the town would pay the remaining half. The monthly payment after 65 would be determined by the age of the individual at the time the plan was put into effect.

At the retirement age, the individual concerned would, if he wished, withdraw the pension in one lump sum. The scheme was turned over to the finance committee.

Mayor N. E. Abousafy showed the council members a diagram of a neon sign which will be purchased by the Coleman Board of Trade to point out the entrance to town to motorists on the highway. The sign will be seven feet in length and the letters making up COLEMAN will be a foot in height. A movable arrow will point to the road into Coleman.

The council voted in favor of supplying the pole and base for the sign and also to supply power to it free of charge. The sign will be erected at the over-pass.

By-law 251 setting the mill rate on business establishments at 46 was given its third and final reading. By-law 253 prohibiting vehicles on tracks from using town roads was given its first reading.

The council showed concern over the situation which is developing in Coleman. There has come to the notice of council members that building and building repairs are carried out in some places but no building permits were applied for. Town foreman Joe Malanchuk was instructed to check the various reported places where construction was taking place to see whether construction is such to warrant a permit.

Hockey Association To Assist Minor Teams

Officials of the Crows Nest Pass Hockey Association report that a total of $810 has been received towards the $10,000 objective set to promote hockey throughout the Pass.

The Association, embodying Pee Wee, Midget, Juvenile and Junior hockey teams from Pincher Creek to Fernie has as its intent to develop enough hockey talent through the Pass to enable the Coasters to boast a roster of local players within a couple of years. It is their express desire that every child that so wishes will have the opportunity of playing hockey. While it is admitted that the Coasters will dip deeper into the finances than the minor teams, the organization feels that extensive financial assistance can be given to all teams, allocations being made as to the needs. In the minor clubs, most of the assistance will be towards equipment and transportation.

Organized schedules will be drawn up for the various team groups and cups awarded to the winners. At the present time trophies are on hand, the Greenhill Hotel Cup for the Juvenile champs and the Crows Nest Pass Coal Co. trophy to the midget winners. Further details and information will be announced following the two-day meeting at Blairmore at the end of the month.

In respect to junior hockey, the local association is in agreement with other Alberta centres in the plan to pull away from present Western Canada Junior League and form a league of Alberta teams. The juniors hope to play games at Fernie, Michel and possibly other Pass towns this winter, although plans cannot be made until the meeting of the Junior league executive is held.

Bill Koentges presides over the local hockey association with Robt. Morrison as secretary-manager. Jim Scott, Pincher Creek, holds office as first vice-

Elks District Meeting To Be Held May 23

District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler A. Wilson announces a District No. 2 meeting will be held on May 23rd at the Turtle Mountain Playgrounds. A dance, with music by the Arcadians Orchestra, will be held that evening after the meeting. A large crowd is expected to attend.

Thirty-one members of the Macleod Elks lodge travelled to Coleman on Friday, May 9, when they presented the Coleman Elks with the Travelling Gavel. The Macleod members and 40 Coleman members met in the banquet room of the Grand Union hotel for a social evening. Coleman lodge was scheduled to visit Staveloy on Sat., May 17, to present them with the Travelling Gavel, but the trip had to be cancelled owing to the rush seedling season, making it impossible for the Staveloy members to take time out from their work.

On Tuesday, May 20, Coleman lodge visited the Blairmore Elks who held their opening ceremonies in the Columbus Hall, which they recently purchased.

Nurses Association Offers Scholarship

The R.N. Association held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Margaret Zemek of Frank, May 5. The main business was discussion of a scholarship. It was definitely decided to award a $100.00 scholarship in September to the Grade 12 girl in the Pass who attains the highest marks, and who wishes to take up nursing. Also the candidate for this scholarship must be accepted at some hospital in Canada for training.

Miss Doreen Coranini, R.N. of Coleman was appointed to attend the Banff convention of nurses. It was decided to send only one delegate this year because of the money needed for the scholarship. Any nurse who wishes to attend at her own expense, may do so.

Miss Pat Fraser who has been a nurse at the local hospital for the past six months, and is leaving to nurse in Winnipeg which is her home, was presented with a picture of the Crows Nest Mountain.

Three films were shown on A.B.C. Warfare, and after the showing a delightful lunch was served by the hostess. The next R.N. Association meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Melvina Harry of Coleman on June 5.

New Bridges Planned For No. 3 Highway

Unconfirmed reports have reached the Journal from a reliable source that 2 new bridges will be erected along the new highway this summer.

Being of cement construction, one bridge will be placed over the river at the Sartoris Mill east of Coleman and the other in the town of Blairmore.

Work is being continued in preparation for the hard surfacing of the highway which is expected to get underway shortly. Plans at this time are to start at the west end of the road and pave east from there.

Ball League Formed Coleman, Blairmore To Decide '51 Winners

Officers of the C.N.P. Baseball League were returned by acclamation at the re-organizational meeting held in Blairmore, May 14.

The meeting, held in the Legion hall, witnessed a very small turnout but delved thoroughly into the various aspects of league operation. Teams have been entered from Coleman, Blairmore, and Pincher Creek, with Fernie and Michel to decide by May 20 should they desire to enter.

Should it remain a three team loop, the teams will play a triple schedule, six games away and six games at home. Drawing up of the schedule cannot be arranged until a decision is reached by the other prospective entries, however it is hoped that play will get underway by June 1st.

Tentative arrangements were made for the completion of last years championship series, called due to adverse weather conditions. Play for the Ringland cup is scheduled for a three out of five series with Coleman leading one game to none when called last fall. At the end of last week it was contemplated that the series would be finished on May 24 and 25 at Coleman and Blairmore.

Manager A. Gentile reports that the Coleman Cubs have been practicing a little with more extensive sessions in the near future. The Cubs will field a new team this year, composed chiefly of younger players. The nine Japanese featured in Coleman uniforms last season will not turn out with the team this year, having joined the Jap-All Star at Lethbridge.

Variety Show Wins Audience Approval

Over 400 persons attended the variety show put on by the United Church Couples Club in the high school auditorium on Friday and Monday, May 9 and 12.

The show netted the club approximately $350. With other club activities, the organ fund is now in the neighborhood of $500. The usual price range for the church organ, which the club is hoping to purchase by holding such activities, is from $1300 to $1900.

The performance was praised by all who attended. The play "A Cup of Tea" was well received and was one of the highlights of the program. Art Williams performance in the field of magic was another such highlight. Members of the cast were treated to a lunch following each performance. This lunch was served by the lady members of the club at the United church manse.

The club is also raising funds for the organ by visiting each other during the evening and paying a small fee for the lunch received. Another of the money raising schemes being tried is doing each others hair for a small fee which goes into the organ fund.

Bigger And Better Carnival And Parade Being Planned

Thrilling action, unequalled horsemanship, thrills for young and old are in store for Coleman July 4 and 5. This scene from last years Rodeo is only one of many thrilling acts on the program.

Executive members of the Coleman Board of Trade and the Rodeo Committee met in the Grand Union coffee shop Friday night to discuss the coming rodeo. Financing this year's two day show caused considerable discussion. Expenses for stock rental, performers' fees, and such items essential to a rodeo will cost a flat $5000.00 this year. This will not include the labour involved in such an undertaking. After discussion on the pros and cons of holding a two day show, the members decided that a two day effort will give the public a better show without too much danger of financial losses.

Because of their poor effort last year, Indians at this year's rodeo will be paid $1.00 only if they enter the parade. They will be paid by the judges at the judging stand. Arrangements for the various jobs to be done in order to hold the rodeo were left to these committee heads.

Filming of the rodeo will be handled by Percy Dickson; Clubs from other Pass towns will be given a general invitation to enter floats in the rodeo parade. Officials' car will be supplied by L. Bubniak and L. Owen; grandstand will be looked after by J. Ramsay and T. Collister; the carnival committee will be headed by George Jenkins; and field preparations committee will be headed by Jim Wilkie.

The problem of fence patrol, which in past years proved to be quite serious and resulted in quite a revenue loss, will be enhanced by forming a deputized patrol. Members will be deputized by the town council for that day and will be headed by John Kullig.

Another problem of past years which gave the rodeo committees of past years difficulties was a suitable place for a rodeo office. The Grand Union hotel was used before but confusing conditions of rodeo day prevented the office to function properly. This year the rodeo committee will try to secure the International Mine Office to use as headquarters.

United church clubs will be asked if they wish to prepare suppers for rodeo night while the Cub group will be asked to handle the making and selling of rodeo programs. This will give the groups an opportunity to raise some funds for their particular club.

The members also felt that they will handle the carnival for both nights. Tickets on a major prize will soon be printed and on sale. The major prize will be drawn at the carnival on the Saturday night, while a smaller, secondary prize will be drawn on the Friday night. Tickets purchased will be good for both nights.

Various trophies will be put up by town merchants. The Motor-drome will present a trophy to the best all-round cowboy; the Grand Union Hotel will present the steer-decorating trophy and N. E. Abousafy will present the calf-roping trophy. Two other major events have as yet no trophy. Any merchant interested in presenting these trophies are asked to contact the rodeo committee. These awards will be presented to the winners on the last carnival night.

The committee decided at the meeting that car-bumper signs will be more effective in advertising the rodeo than methods previously used.

In order that attendance to the rodeo be as high as possible, the committees will ask the town council to declare Saturday, July 5 a civic holiday.

High School Prom and Dance May 30

Plans are under way for the high school prom — the school event of the year. This is the time of year when young daughters begin sighing over evening gowns and the boys begin penny pinching for corsages and paying their parents car. Most important, however, it marks the beginning of a new life to the ones who graduate.

A banquet will be held in the L.O.O.F. hall with the Sisters of the Royal Purple catering to the students. A play, in charge of Norma Toppino, will be given as part of the evening's entertainment.

At the banquet, Harold Nishikawa will propose a toast to the Queen. High school president Frank Oliva will propose toast to the staff and will be replied to by Mr. McDonald. Mr. Jim Parks will reply to the toast to the parents proposed by Shirley Woods.

Coleman Soldiers Return From Korea

Among the Albertians returning from Korea on rotation leave No. 3, are Cpl. Ernest A. Gareau, and Pte. George T. Nester, both of Coleman.

The men were scheduled to arrive at the west coast last weekend, and expected at No. 10 Personnel Depot, Calgary on Monday.

The valedictory will be given by Lenore Dutil. Ken Hammer will propose a toast to the school board to which Mr. Cornett will reply. Mr. H. Allen will address the graduating class and Frances Kowenko will reply on behalf of the graduates.

To round out the evenings festivities, the group will move to the school auditorium for dancing. The music will be supplied by the Arcadians Orchestra.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY

The Careless Cow

By Katherine Howard

Cupid Uses Curious Instruments.

AS THE big gray truck rounded the curve of the highway, Slim Harris, with a muttered ejaculation, slammed on the brakes and brought the truck to a sudden stop. A big cow blithely pranced into the ditch, missing the truck's headlights by an inch, and at the same instant a girl in a blue dress came running down the lane and out onto the highway.

Slim reached into his pocket for his small camera. She made a pretty picture, with her yellow hair flying, and he was a camera fiend. But as she came close to the truck, he saw that her face was flushed and indignant, and her blue eyes were sparkling angrily.

"What do you think you are doing?" she stormed. "You truck drivers think the highway belongs to you."

"TOUGH EGGS"

"Tough eggs" may have their place in a gangster picture but at a meal they are a reflection against the cook. Since eggs are a protein food they should always be cooked at low or moderate temperatures.

The design of the U.S. silver dollar can be changed only once every 25 years.

"You. Always in such a hurry..." Slim leaned out of the cab. "Say," he dawled. "Why don't you teach that animal of yours that old trucks pack an awful wallop. You'd better look after your cow in future." He started the engine.

"She's not my cow, that's the worst of it," said the girl. She looked up at Slim with eloquent blue eyes. "She belongs to my brother. He's just taken his wife to the hospital, and I've got to milk that beastly animal." Slim turned off the ignition. If she wanted to be conversational, it was fine with him. She was cute all right.

"I just know she kicks," said the blonde girl, despondently. "Doesn't she look a kicker? How I'll manage I don't know."

"Slim jumped down out of the cab, 'Lady, I forgive you them hard words,' he said. 'I can't see a damsel in distress. Lead on. I'll bring old bossy to the barn and milk her for you.'"

"Oh, would you?" The blue eyes beamed with relief. "It's awfully good of you. Come, Julie." Slim and the girl followed, Slim feeling a glow of virtuous satisfaction, which could have been caused either by his Boy Scout act or by the close proximity of this pretty girl. But his rosy mood was suddenly dispelled as a husky fellow in blue shirt and overalls came around the corner of the house.

"Hey, what's going on?" he said truculently. "What're you doing with that cow?"

"Going to milk her, I believe," mildly answered Slim, nevertheless his gray eyes glinted.

"Oh, no, you're not. I came over to milk Julie, Anna and I intend to. You'd better get back to your truck. You're off schedule."

The fellow glared at Slim who conquered the impulse to take a poke at him only when he saw the anxious expression in the girl's blue eyes.

"Okay, brother, if that's the way you feel about it," he said, as he turned and walked back to the highway and the waiting truck.

As he drove away, he couldn't help thinking of the girl. Gosh, she was a pretty thing. All through the long, weary drive north he thought of her. She really was something.

He looked for her as he passed the place on his way back to town but she was nowhere about.

After three days in the city, constantly remembering how pretty she was, how cute and attractive, he bought a big box of chocolates and as his truck, still with the north again, approached the gray, weather-beaten farmhouse, Slim felt the heart knocking. There was a flutter of blue by the house.

Suddenly, "Well, if that isn't Julie again," said Slim. The black and white cow dashed from the lane into the highway. She stood staring, then, from the north, roared a green coupe, travelling much too fast, Slim figured.

The coupe hit the cow, veered sharply, slid to the ditch, across the road, and shot forward on its way, splattering gravel.

Julie lay at the edge of the road, and Slim got down to the truck. "Well, you really did it this time, didn't you?" A cool voice roused him and he turned. There stood Anna, contempt in her blue eyes. "I told you this would happen," she said.

"You jump to conclusions, don't you?" said Slim, a lump in his chest. This time it, really tore it. All the delicious dreams he had been nurturing the last few days were fading fast. "What makes you certain, I did it?"

"You were the only truck on the road, and you've missed her before, haven't you?" "Oh, it's too bad," she looked at him in such a way that Slim figured she had been dreaming too.

Tires scraped on the gravel as a green coupe came to a stop beside them. The character who had insisted on milking Julie before got out of the car. "Guess you got her this time," he sneered. "Well, so long as you pay for her we won't kick too much, will we, Anna?"

"I'm not paying for her," said Slim bluntly, "and I'd advise you to admit that you hit the cow."

"Who, me?" blustered the fellow, his little eyes turning stony. "What're you talking about?"

"This," said Slim, taking the little camera out of his pocket. "I was just snapping a picture of bossy, shall we say for sentimental reasons, when what should come into the picture but a green coupe, and the camera never lies, brother."

And as he drove Anna back to the farm, with poor Julie in the back of the truck, Slim idly speculated on what curious instruments Cupid uses to perform his naughty tricks.

Prairies Wage Mechanized War On Coyotes

The coming of summer ended one of the greatest hunts ever waged, in Canada, against the coyote. Hundreds of the livestock killers have been wiped out this past winter by Canadian farmers who look forward to relief from the vicious animals for the first time in many years. Success of the mechanized war against coyotes is due largely to use of snowmobiles. Travelling over snow at 50 miles an hour in the tracked vehicles, the hunters are able to run down and shoot the swift bandits easily once they are spotted. Ranging over the prairies, the coyotes long have been source of financial annoyance to farmers. Smaller than the wolf and more jackal-like, coyotes are slinking and stealthy, living in burrows and hunting in packs at night. During the winter, when gamebirds, larks, chipmunks and mice are scarce, coyotes raid barnyards. Previously, each rancher would hunt them singly, on foot, bagging one or two at a time. Now with the first snowmobile, the coyote doesn't stand a chance against such mechanized warfare, as seen above.—Central Press Canadian.

Believed to be the first Canadian soldier to marry a Japanese girl, Pte. Earl MacMillan of Medicine Hat, Alta., will head for home shortly on leave from Canadian Postal Corps in Japan as soon as his bride is given a "clean bill of health" by medical authorities. The 21-year-old soldier, who was the first recruit in the Calgary district to join the Korean brigade in 1950, met his wife-to-be working in a souvenir shop in Kure where he went to shop for gifts to send home. Within three weeks he married her, winning her hand against the opposition of one Australian and two U.S. soldiers.

CLEAR LAKE, Man.—An elderly farmer of this district died from wounds in Minnesota hospital after a desperate four-hour battle by his wife holding off an angry bull. She stood over his body all afternoon, before the maddened animal subsided. Mrs. Griffiths then dragged her husband's body to a safe distance and phoned for assistance. But it was too late for medical aid.

To Destroy Old Home

EDMONTON, Alta. — One of Edmonton's oldest homes, a brick dwelling built in 1900, is being torn down to make way for a downtown parking lot. The city purchased the structure in 1905, and it has been leased to various business concerns. It is felt that revenue from parking cars will be greater than rents for the house.

Fussy Fishermen

REGINA. — Work done by biologists in protecting the fish population of Saskatchewan lakes was outlined by Morris Ferrie of the provincial game branch. "The biologist must also study the fisherman, the hardest to handle of all life," he said. "They want just certain fish, and this throws the balance off."

Mother's Day Special

THE PAS, Man. — Mother's day, was a big event for Mr. and Mrs. Arvid Grant of The Pas. Mrs. Grant gave birth to triplets—two girls and a boy. All are doing well. The Grants have three other children.

Venturesome Gopher

YORKTON, Sask. — A gopher hitchhiked into town for a short visit. The animal was seen to hop down to the pavement from a farmer's car, and hop right back again when the car started off.

Yorkton Plants 1,400 Trees

YORKTON, Sask. — Yorkton has always been proud of its many tree-lined streets and recently the city works department set out another 1,400 elm from six to eight feet in height. Three hundred were planted at the cemetery and the others on the boulevards.

To Hold Exhibition Despite Limitations

BRANDON, Man. — Alex McPhail, president of the Manitoba provincial exhibition stated emphatically here the provincial exhibition will be held this year despite cancellation of all cattle, sheep and swine classes.

"We have many other features to offer which will provide a real show for the Manitoba public," Mr. McPhail said, mentioning particularly the first annual Manitoba trade fair, presented this year in co-operation with the provincial department of industry and commerce.

"There will also be a heavy horse show, unexcelled in western Canada, a good light horse show, and a large poultry show," he said.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

An Invitation Ignored

For the past year newspapers throughout the continent have reported the findings of the Crime Investigating Committee in Washington, and the public has been duly appalled by the information uncovered. Similarly too, such news hits the newsstands concerning such conditions in Canada causing a general public protest. Similarly here in Alberta there comes to light at times conditions in public institutions which give rise to government "Investigations" and public indignation.

These conditions, or crimes if you'd have it, must have a definite cause. What makes an official in a responsible position resort to graft? Why do these crime machines go unnoticed for such a lengthy period? The first of the two questions is difficult to answer as such things as salary, political commitments, professional status, etc. must be taken into consideration. The second of the two questions appears to be less difficult. Public laxness. When the public of a community or province or the whole country turns its eyes away from its own public affairs then it is asking for trouble. When we do not accept the responsibility of "responsible government", we can hardly expect perfection in our institutions.

On May 12 the ratepayers were invited to inspect the hospital during the hours from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. To say that thousands thronged the halls would be ideal. To say that a large number accepted the invitation would be encouraging. To say that not one person bothered would be saying the truth. That is exactly what happened. Out of the total number of ratepayers, which should number about 7000 there was not one who showed enough interest in seeing whether his tax money was well spent.

If we were to leave our homes for a month and take a holiday, would we look throughout our homes on our return to check if there were any items missing on our return? No answer is needed there. Yet most of us are asked to look at our hospital once a year, and we can't be bothered. Yet the hospital costs more to build and maintain than do our individual homes.

We are not saying that anything is wrong at our hospital. On the contrary, they should be commended for doing such a fine job without even the interest of the general public. But suppose we take a purely hypothetical event. Suppose the hospital were to burn to the ground tomorrow and upon investigation it was found that the fire was caused by fire hazards of long time standing, and suppose too that in that fire some of the patients and personnel lost their lives — it happens, read your papers—and to talk extremes, suppose you or one of your family were among the dead or injured, wouldn't you cry for blood? How soon someone would be called up on the carpet? Yet, how do you know the place will not go up into smoke tomorrow? Have you inspected the basement of the hospital? Are you sure there are no live ashes, oily rags, poor electrical connections? We can bet though that you know if those conditions exist in your own home.

Graduation Time

We suppose that if you have a daughter or son attending high school you have already been approached with varied requests concerning the coming high school prom. We hope you have lent a sympathetic ear to these requests.

Graduation is a promotion and as such deserves some form of celebration. It's a promotion from twelve years of study to possibly a job or to the beginning of a career. Soon you will realize that little Mary is no longer a little girl and that little John is now taller than his father. Time has really flown and here they are, finishing school. Anxiously, you will wonder what will become of them; how will they fare in this world; how will they stand up to the real tests of life?

But not yet! Give them a little more time from life. Let them be young one more night, for now the carefree days will be numbered. Give them this last, most important wish.

An evening gown? But that costs so much! How much is happiness worth, surely much more than an evening gown. Ten dollars and the car? But dad, his first important pretence at being grown. You wouldn't refuse him tonight of all nights? Let him feel important now, with his girl. Give him that manly confidence.

They'll be out a little longer tonight, too. Remember when you were 18? This is their real big night, so Mom and Dad, don't fail them.

ALONG THE SKYLINE TRAIL: Along the skyline trails and through the fabled passes of the Canadian Rockies this July, 130 "dude riders", straddling their securely saddled cayuses, will view some of the most spectacular scenery on the continent. The "dudes" are Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies, an organization founded by J. Murray Gibson, well-known author and former general publicity agent for the Canadian Pacific Railway, and during the last two weeks in July will participate in five-day and six-day rides in the Egypt Lakes - Marmon Ridge area of the Continental Divide near Banff, Alta., jumping off point for the expeditions. The five-day ride, starting July 18, costs $65 per person and the six-day jaunt, beginning July 25 costs $75, which includes horse, saddle equipment, tepee accommodation, meals and guide service. All riders are eligible for membership in the 29-year-old Trail Riders organization.

Supreme Chief Pays Official Visit To Pythian Sisters

Cleo Hoggan, Supreme Chief of Pythian Sisters from Albarquerque, N.M., paid her official visit to Progressive Temple No. 3 Pythian Sisters of Coleman. Over two hundred members from Coaldale, Lethbridge, Hillview, Coleman, Michel, Fernie and Kimberley gathered for a turkey banquet in the I.O.O.F. hall on May 9.

The meeting later moved to the Italian hall where the Supreme Chief obligated a class of 29 with the original Pythian Sisters' Bible.

Before the meeting opened, officers of the towns represented were introduced. These were Past Grand Chief of B.C. and the Grand Chief of B.C., the Grand Lodge officers — Past Grand Chief Eugene Anderson of Lethbridge, Past Grand Chiefs Cora Glendenning and Ethel Hill of Coleman, Supreme District Deputy Past Grand Chief Amy Penny, Grand Inner Guard Sister Betty Smith of Coaldale, Most Excellent Chiefs of Fernie, Michel and Coleman, and Past Chief Doris Vincent of Coleman. During the introductions they were all given corsages.

Supreme Chief Cleo Hoggan gave a very impressive speech on the principles of the order—purity, love, equality, and fidelity. She also complimented the Progressive Temple No. 3 officers and drill staff on their work.

Afterwards Supreme District Deputy Past Grand Chief presented Supreme Chief Cleo Hoggan with a gift on behalf of the Fernie, Michel, Coleman, Hillview, Lethbridge, and Coaldale temples.

Past Grand Chief Eugene Anderson presented Supreme District Deputy Past Grand Chief with a gift from the Coaldale, Lethbridge, Hillview and Coleman temples. Inner Guard Sister Betty Smith also presented her with a gift.

After close of the meeting the members returned to the I.O.O.F. hall for lunch.

This occasion marked the first time that the Coleman temple was officially visited by the Supreme Chief. The Supreme Chief making this visit has been a member of the Pythian Sisters for 30 years.

Anyone walking down main street Sunday night, May 25 will have an opportunity of watching while Erna sleeps peacefully on a bed of 2,542 nails in the Roxy Theatre window for two and a half hours.

In addition to the act performed by Erna from 9.30 till midnight, patrons will be treated to the amazing performance of the Doctor himself and "The Man With the X-ray Eyes".

Dr. Zomb claims that the art of self-hypnosis may be learned by any intelligent person, and that with mastery of the mental skill a person can overcome unwanted habits such as smoking and drinking . . . can increase their memory and even abolish pain in their body. With volunteers from the audience he will demonstrate such phenomena.

The management of the Roxy, feeling that this show will be appreciated by Coleman people has been busy making arrangements to bring it here following the favorable publicity awarded it across Canada.

Theatre News

While extensive work and time has been necessary to bring the famed Dr. Zoom and his show to Coleman, the Roxy management has still been able to find enough time to select another group of top ranking films to show the theatre going public.

Jungle warfare hits the screen again May 22 and 23 when the Roxy presents a diary of love under fire, "American Guerrilla in the Philippines" This is the story of stranded Americans who eluded the Japs and kept in constant touch with the authorities to pave the way for MacArthur's return.

Young Weaver's actions tended as well to add strength to Disraeli's bid for greater reforms.

May 29 and 30 tells of an American girl that lets both Paris and love go to her head. This amusing musical brings together some of the best talent of today.

Better Schooling

A REPORT WHICH HAS BEEN of interest to many Canadians was published recently under the title "Better Schooling for Canadian Youth". The report was the result of a study made over a period of four years by a committee made up of one representative each of a number of associations in the fields of agriculture, commerce, education, industry, labour and the home. The undertaking was financed by a number of national associations, individual firms and labour organizations and its object was to find "what constitutes a suitable secondary school education for students who go directly to employment from school." The work was inspired by the late Dr. Fletcher Peacock, president of the Canadian Education Association in 1946, when he told the Canadian Manufacturer's Association that if funds were provided, the Educational Association would help to find out "what was wrong with education".

Slow To Meet Rural Needs

The resulting report gave some interesting facts concerning secondary education in Canada and made recommendations based on the findings of the committee. One part of the report dealt with the needs of secondary schools in rural areas. It said "Agriculture is a major industry in Canada, but the secondary schools have been slow to develop courses in this field." It went on to say that secondary schools in rural areas are frequently small and offer only a limited course, and also that there is the mistaken impression among many people that agriculture is an unskilled occupation, for which no special training is needed beyond that which the farm boy receives at home. On the contrary, those who made a study of this matter arrived at the conclusion that agriculture is a business for which technical education as well as a good general education is needed.

Says Studies Should Go On

The report recommends that secondary schools in rural areas should emphasize skills needed on the farm and should also give instruction in agricultural economics, conservation, marketing, farm organization, consumer problems, farm management and other related subjects. It also suggested that attention should be given to making farm life more attractive by the study of rural electrification, recreation, modernization of farm homes and kindred subjects. The problem of rural education was only one of many discussed in the report, which concluded with recommendations that continuous research should be carried on with the object of improving secondary education in Canada to meet the needs of the country in these changing times.

1951 Was Good Year For Farmers

OTTAWA. Farmers in 1951 had their second best production year in history.

The bureau of statistics reported that the physical volume of agricultural production, based on 1935-39 equalling 100, was estimated at 157.1 last year. The figure compared with 139.5 for 1950 and the record high of 164.2 set in 1942.

Bumper grain crops on the prairies, together with increased production of livestock, tobacco, vegetables, poultry, and eggs, were responsible for the high production index. The increase more than offset declines in the output of dairy products, potatoes, sugar beets, fruits, and maple products.

Winner Receives $102,000 In Alaska River Breakup

NEENANA, Alaska.—The ice on the far north Tenana river went out Monday night, May 12, and tripped a time clock, bringing $102,000 to the sole holder of the lucky ticket in the territory's big ice pool.

The winner is Charles R. Montjoy, Juneau.

More than 130,000 Alaskans submitted guesses at $1 each on the time of the ice breakup. Expenses cut the pot down to $102,000.

However, Uncle Sam will be the real winner as Montjoy will have to pay approximately $69,000 in taxes out of the payoff.

Marriage Advice Keeps Workers Happy On Job

COVENTRY, England.—As the machines start up each morning in a factory here a friendly voice addresses the workers over the loud-speaker system. It doesn't pep talk them—it gives them marriage advice. The scheme was started on the principle that "you can't be happy at the factory if you are not happy at home."

Harry Weston, manager of the factory and also Coventry's mayor, claims the talks are a great success. So much so, in fact, that he is arranging others.

Funny and Otherwise

While attending a night club with a favorite escort, a girl went to the cloakroom to repair her face and met several friends she hadn't seen for a long time. They started gossiping and time went on . . . and on.

Presently an attendant handed her a note. It was from the obviously weary escort, and read: "Can't understand why you haven't written."

"How much does your hair weigh now, Auntie?"

"Goodness me, Agnes, what- ever are you talking about?"

"Well, Mummy says it gets a bit lighter every time you go and see the hairdresser."

His mother-in-law had written to say that she was coming to live with them. As, hatchet-faced, she approached the house, she saw a huge crowd. Pushing her way to the front, she blinked in consternation at the damage a midnight fire had done at the heap of bricks, the charred furniture.

"Dear me," she gasped, her face livid. "I didn't think he'd go as far as that."

"Hey George, how do you like married life?"

"Like it like a bird, boss."

"Like a bird, George?"

"Yes boss. I have to fly for my life."

"So you and your neighbor are not on speaking terms?"

"No. He sent me a can of oil to use on my lawn-mower when I started to cut the grass at six in the morning."

"And what did you do?"

"Sent it back and told him to use it on his wife when she started singing at eleven at night."

"I've just been congratulating Colonel Blase," said a guest at a luncheon. "He's been appointed governor of a prison."

"Really?" asked his pretty neighbour. "Now, for a job like that does one need influence, or does one start as a convict and rise from the ranks?"

The boss returned from lunch in a happy mood and called in the whole staff to listen to a couple of jokes he had picked up. With the exception of one girl, everybody laughed uproariously.

"What's the matter?" grumbled the boss. "Haven't you got a sense of humor?"

"I don't have to laugh," said the girl. "I'm leaving on Friday."

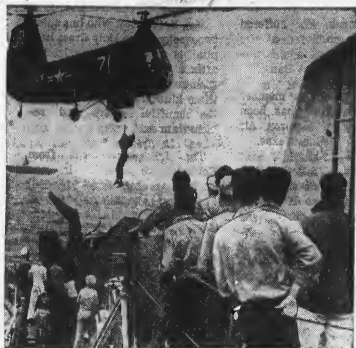

A puzzled motorist asked why one gate at the Irish level-crossing was closed while the other was open. "Sure, its loike this," he was told. "We're half expectin' a train."

Jeweler.—Why do you want me to refund your money on this engagement ring? Didn't it suit?

Young Man.—The ring suited all right—but didn't.

"I never worry about my husband paying attention to other women; he's just crazy about me."

"But perhaps he has lucid intervals."

Forestry Association Conducts Successful Poster Competition

Total of 947 Posters Were Submitted by School Pupils of Three Prairie Provinces—Alberta Girl Wins the Grand Prize

In connection with Forest Conservation Week, a poster competition was held, open to all school pupils in the Western Provinces, with Provincial prizes, and a Grand Prize for the best poster submitted.

This contest closed with a total of 947 posters submitted from the three provinces: Alberta, 382; Manitoba, 319; Saskatchewan, 246. As not more than three, and in most cases only one poster was forwarded from a school, over 700 schools, or school classes, took an active part in this project. Based on a class of twenty-five students, work on these posters was possibly undertaken by over 17,000 students. Returns were received from all over the West, from both City and Rural schools, with many entries coming from small forest and farm communities.

As the main objective of the contest was to interest the young people in conservation, and increase their knowledge in the importance of our forest resources, this undertaking met with considerable success. It served to increase the effectiveness of the Association's work amongst the young people, providing publicity material in forest conservation. Each year "conservation classes" are attended annually by over 100,000 school pupils.

Hay-Fever-Free Vacation Available In All Provinces

OTTAWA.—Hay fever sufferers seeking a fever-free vacation can find suitable spots in every province in Canada, the Canadian government travel bureau said. British Columbia and the Rocky Mountain area of Alberta are virtually free of ragweed pollen—the main cause of hay fever—the report said. Saskatchewan, except for the extreme south, also was given a clean bill.

Ragweed is more common in Manitoba than other prairie provinces, but Riding Mountain National park and the northern parts of the province should be quite safe for those attempting to escape from the pollen.

In Ontario, ragweed sufferers—there are an estimated 2,000,000 in the United States and 100,000 in Canada—are advised to go north of a line from Pary Sound to Pembroke or head for the holiday resorts of the Muskoka and Algonquin park districts.

Quebec's most inviting area for the hay fever sufferer is in the Gaspé peninsula north of a line from Rimouski to Matapédia. The large northern counties of Temiscamingue and Abitibi are safe refuges, and this situation prevails at least as far south in the Laurentians as Mont Laurier.

Newfoundland is almost completely free of ragweed, while the larger part of the other three Atlantic provinces has little ragweed. Nova Scotia is carrying out a control campaign and the other provinces have planned similar action.

Cypress Park To Get Electric Power

REGINA.—The electrification of Cypress Hills and the building of a new golf clubhouse at Kenosae are two of the major projects in the works program planned for the seven provincial parks this year, the bureau of publications reports.

The power line will be built from Maple Creek south to the park. It is estimated that 16 to 20 farmers will be served as well along the 25-mile route. The project is expected to be completed by the beginning of the tourist season.

Other improvements planned for the parks include a larger parking space and cabin improvements at Kenosae, four new two-room cabins at Greenwater lake, and construction of 16 miles of new fireguard, and improvement and seeding of four fairways on the golf course at Madge lake.

Landscaping and painting will be done in all the parks.

First Wheat For 1952 Shipping Arrives At Churchill

CHURCHILL, Man.—Fourteen cars of wheat—the first of the 1952 shipping season—were unloaded in this northern Manitoba port May 12 including four cars of damp grain dried at the local terminal elevator.

Present prospects indicate this year will be the busiest yet. It is expected at least 10,000,000 bushels of grain will be handled here for European markets.

FIRST AID

First Aid is just what the two words imply, namely the earliest possible intelligent aid or help given to the victim of an accident or sudden illness. This aid is usually of a temporary nature only, to be given at once, at the scene of the accident or sudden illness and before a doctor is available to assume responsibility.

First Aid Temporary

Remember that First Aid is temporary; dressings must be simple and easy both to apply and remove; bandages should hold splints and dressings firmly in place, and if they do this, neatness is not important.

Keep the victim lying down and in a comfortable position, with the head level with the body until the extent and seriousness of the injuries are known. Keeping the victim thus at rest may prevent further injury and at the same time help prevent shock. If fainted, the head may be raised slightly, or if vomiting turned to one side provided that there is no possibility of a neck injury being present. At the same time one should keep the victim warm but not so hot as to overdo it as overheating is as bad as not enough heat. Maintain normal body temperature.

Serious bleeding, stoppage of breathing and poisoning must be given immediate treatment. If breathing has stopped the First Aider will probably know whether this is from drowning, gas poisoning or electric shock, the three most frequent causes.

As the immediate treatment is artificial respiration.

Examine the victim thoroughly for other injuries and be sure you find them all. If the victim is conscious, it is usually easier to locate these, as pain is always an important indication. Let the victim guide you to one injury after another but make a complete examination yourself.

Have a clear view of the injury possible, but remove the minimum of clothing. If the removal of clothing in the usual manner increases pain, rip or cut along the seams. Never, at any time unnecessarily expose a victim.

Organize bystanders and immediately send for a doctor, telling him the exact location of the accident, the number of victims and the extent of the injuries.

When the physician arrives, tell him exactly what has been done and stand by to help him in any way possible.

It is very seldom that an accident occurs in an ideal environment for either First Aid or Medical Treatment. Unfavourable circumstances such as a busy city street or highway, a rainstorm or snowstorm or even curious crowds all tend to make the task of a First Aider more difficult. The victim himself may present a problem if under the influence of liquor in that he might actually resist the aid you would give. Well-meaning but misguided relatives and friends may become panicky at the sight of blood or unconsciousness and urge the First Aider to take hasty action which will considered thought, he would deem unwise.

Under all of these adverse conditions, just as in the favourable ones, it is essential that the First Aider keep cool and calm, proceed with a systematic and careful examination, think clearly and methodically, and give the First Aid that you know to be right.

THE VIOLET

The violet shrinks from curious eyes. Among the wayside grass, And few can see it nestling there. Where countless footsteps pass. The violet has a fragrance rare. Unmatched by other flowers. A fragrance borne by every breeze. Freshened by springtime showers. Modestly does it hang its head. Among the waving grass. Content to let its fragrance rise To those who slowly pass.

Should a husband turn his pay cheque over to his wife and let her be the family's financial manager? According to those who have studied the situation, it depends upon the intelligence and managerial ability of the wife. If there is any indication the wife is lacking in what it takes to handle money properly she should be put on a budget and also denied the privilege of charge accounts. In Great Britain the husband who turns his pay cheque over to his wife is a rarity. Not only that, many Englishwomen do not even know what their husband's salary is. I recently heard of an Englishwoman who had been in this unhappy position for some years. Then she suddenly decided to become a career woman. When she started to work her husband asked her what her salary was to be. This was a big moment in the lady's life. She refused to tell him. It is said of some married career girls that they spend 80 per cent. of their husband's salary and 90 per cent. of their own.

Parrot's Vocabulary

In England the parrots commanding the highest prices are those which have a talent for swearing. Yet one of the most valuable parrots in English history did not include one profane word in its vocabulary. It belonged to a Capt. O'Kelly, also the owner of the great undefeated thoroughbred Eclipse. During the races in which Eclipse took part the parrot would scream as the horses came down the stretch. "Eclipse first! And the rest nowhere!" Another interesting British parrot was named Robert. This bird laid its first egg when it was 125 years old. Its name was promptly changed to Roberta.

Canine Intelligence

A reader writes he has a liver-and-white female springer named Duchess who is allergic to inebriates. When Duchess sees an inebriate approaching she sits down on the sidewalk and howls. Reminds me of a dog I used to see some years ago in Sausalito, Calif. When his master was inebriated this dog would walk behind him with head down and his tail between his legs. The picture of dejection and shame. When his master was sober the dog would romp along joyfully by his side.

Steam Cars Were Fast

Do you claim to be a young old-timer in the automobile field? How many steam cars can you remember? Most people can recall only three: the Stanley, the White and the Doble. But there were many more. For examples: the Great Tractable Toledo, Stearns, Waltham, Prescott, Lane, Stearns, Rose, Mobile and Locomobile. An unusual steam car was the one called "the Stanley Mountain Wagon". It was a 12-passenger car and the greatest hill climber of all time. These old steamers were speedy jobs, too. Forty-seven years ago, in 1905, a Stanley steamer did over 127 miles an hour at Daytona Beach, Fla.

Vancouver Men Invent Machine To Record Telephone Messages

VANCOUVER. — An "automatic secretary," a telephone recorder invented by two Vancouver men—will be put into production by a British manufacturing firm, it was learned here.

The device, invented by John Fontaine and Allan McLaren, will be in production within 90 days.

A report from London said Percy J. Harvey, a Vancouver broker, had completed a $3,000,000 deal with the British firm giving it sales rights in all markets except Canada and the United States.

The machine works electronically, Norway are being used at Rothmans in an experiment to see whether animals can be bred in Britain.

It will retail for about $500. It makes something like a player attachment for home radios.

Fontaine, now in London, is working on a newer model which could, at set times, call the owner at other telephone numbers and relay messages thus making it unnecessary to return to the office.

No announcement has been made on the exact amount of money that will go to the two inventors and their Vancouver associates.

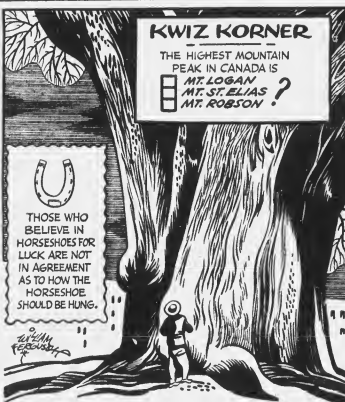

REINDEER COATS?

EDINBURGH.—Reindeer fur coats may result from an experiment in Invernesshire. Eight reindeer from Norway are being used at Rothmans in an experiment to see whether animals can be bred in Britain.

It will provide fur, food and new materials.

Eliminate Your Weak Spots In Hitting

Perhaps the best way to improve your hitting is to search-out your weak points and eliminate them. The average hitter is content to wait for a certain type of pitch before taking a cut. For example, if he can give a fast and slightly outside ball a good long ride every now and then he's satisfied. This is a great mistake.

Here's why! If you have even one weak spot, say for example, you can't hit a low curve over the outside corner, you are always in danger of being a total loss in an important game or when you come up to bat when a safe hit is really needed. You see, any good opposing coach will have his players studying your hitting and if you have a weak spot, they will soon detect it.

Then, if your pitcher has control, he can throw to your weak spot and ruin your effectiveness. So search for your weak spots and then practice until you are an all-around hitter. You can test yourself by having a pal throw every type of delivery at you and you try to hit them. Keep a record of how well you do, then practice hitting the types of pitch you don't handle so well. Ask your coach or teammates to help by checking on you.

If you do this, you will soon find much to your surprise, that you have been hitting a certain kind of ball right at a certain fielder and have thus been getting out too often. Once you know this you can learn to hit this type of ball differently. Another good trick is to have someone watch your hitting to see if you are hitting under or over the ball when you miss or just get a piece of it. Most batters don't realize why they missed a certain pitch. If you know, you can correct this error the next time up.

Yes, study your hitting and eliminate those weak spots. It will give you another effective boost toward the top!

The Jog, Sprint, Walk

Conditioner for Track and Field
This type-jog workout should be used as a build-up for your harder training to follow.

Here's the idea: Each day go for a 1 to 1.5 mile run, using the following system: Start off running slowly and easily, jogging in a relaxed fashion on the balls of your feet for 75 yards. Then, suddenly burst into a full sprint, running as fast as you can for 15 or 20 yards then slow down to a walk. Walk for 50 yards then start over again—jog, sprint, walk. Always finish the last 30-40 yards with a full sprint. Walk until your breathing returns to normal and make sure you keep warm.

Rebuild and Reheel

After those hard workouts make sure you replenish your body with those all important food elements.

Include in your post-game or practice meal plenty of fresh fruits, especially oranges; lean meat; honey; some vegetable salt in a quarter of a glass of water; Ovaltine as an energy drink; and some fresh vegetables.

If you follow these hints you won't get that draggy feeling the day after you have had an especially hard workout, thus enabling you to perform your daily tasks with a much greater degree of efficiency and much more enjoyment.
